CLASS OF 1813.

NICHOLAS F. BECK.

MARRIED: On Wednesday the 20th ult., in St. George's Church in this city by the Rev. M. Proal, Nicholas F. Beck, Esq., adjutant-general, to Miss Anna Maria, daughter of Capt. J. Walton.

The Cabinet
Schenectady
July 4, 1827.
NICHOLAS F. BECK

DIED:--On Wednesday evening last in the 34th year of his age, Nicholas F. Beck, Esq., Adjutant General of the State of New York.

The funeral of General Beck took place yesterday afternoon. His corpse was escorted to the grave by a large column of troops, and the Albany Military Association, of which the deceased was a member, and followed by the officers of the general government, the members of the bar, the trustees of the Albany Academy of which board the deceased was an associate, the Albany Institute of which he was also a member and a numerous concourse of citizens. Thus then has the grave finally closed over the remains of one, who while living was a valued and esteemed friend, and whose remembrance will live long in our hearts.

American Masonick Record and Albany Literary Journal
Saturday, July 3, 1830.
CLASS OF 1813

NICHOLAS F. BECK

DIED—In Albany, on Wednesday, the 1st inst, Nicholas F. Beck, Esq., Adjutant General of the State of New York, in the 34th year of his age.

From "Rural Repository" Hudson, N. Y.
July 17, 1830.
CLASS OF 1813

NICHOLAS F. BECK, adjutant-general of the state, died, aged 34. June 30, 1830

Munsell's Annals of Albany p. 213
The annual oration before the Pi Beta Phi Society of Union College will be delivered in the Presbyterian Church on Monday evening, July 33d by N. F. Beck, Esq., of Schenectady; the exercises to commence at one-half past seven o'clock.

J. B. Nott, Cor. Sec'y.

Schenectady, 17th July, 1822
In the latter part of the summer of 1830, Nicholas F. Beck, adjutant general of the State, died at Albany. He received his appointment from Gov. Clinton, and continued under his successors to hold the office until his death. Perhaps the death of no person of his age, (he was a young man and brother of the learned and estimable Dr. T. Romeyn Beck, principal of the Albany Academy) would have been more felt or deeply lamented. He possessed respectable talents, and was one of the most amiable men, as a member of society, I ever knew.

Hist. of the Political Parties in the State of New York
Jabez D. Hammond
Syracuse
1852.
NICHOLAS F. BECK

Married: On Wednesday evening last, in St. George's Church, Schenectady, by the Rev. Mr. Proal, N. F. Beck, esq., Adjutant-general, to Miss Anna Maria, daughter of J. Walton, esq.—Albany Argus and City Gazette, June 29, (Thurs.). 1827.

Annual Commencement. Argus July 20, 1827.
CLASS OF 1813

NICHOLAS FAIRLY BECK

Born November 7, 1796
Died June 30, 1830.
DIED—On Wednesday evening last in the 34th year of his age, Nicholas F. Beck, Esq., Adjutant General of the State of New York.

The funeral of General Beck took place yesterday afternoon. His corpse was escorted to the grave by a large column of troops, and the Albany Military Association, of which the deceased was a member, and followed by the officers of the general government, the members of the bar, the trustees of the Albany Academy, of which board the deceased was an associate, the Albany Institute of which he was also a member and a numerous concourse of citizens. Thus then has the grave finally closed over the remains of one, who while living was a valued and esteemed friend, and whose remembrance will live long in our hearts. Daily Advertiser.

American Masonick Record and Albany Literary Journal Saturday, July 3, 1830.
DEATH OF ADJUTANT-GENERAL BECK: Our esteemed fellow-citizen. Nicholas F. Beck, esq., adjutant-general, died at his residence in this city, on Wednesday evening.

Although this event had long been looked for, it came nevertheless with regret to all, and with poignant grief and sorrow to his family and relatives. Few men partook so largely of the public esteem—few are endeared to kindred and friends by stronger ties of regard and affection.

To varied attainments as a scholar, and as a practiced and capable writer, he added the most amiable qualities of the mind, which were heightened by a rare modesty and kindness of manner.

He endured, with eminent fortitude, the deprivations and pains of a long confinement and a wasting malady.

General Beck was appointed to the office of Adjutant-General by Gov. Clinton, in the autumn of 1825; from which time until his death, he discharged its duties creditably to himself, and with entire satisfaction to the public.

His funeral will take place this afternoon, at 4 o'clock, from his late residence in Columbia-street. (See military orders in another column)

Albany Argus
July 2, 1830.

The remains of our much lamented fellow-citizen, Adjutant-General Beck, were interred yesterday afternoon, with military honors; the military and the procession under the command of Gen. Humphrey, as marshal, assisted by Col. Helyea and Major Alvord, agreeably to the published order. The societies, public officers, and a large concourse of citizens, united in this last tribute of respect for the memory of one whose virtues and talents had secured for him the universal respect of the community.

Albany Argus
July 2, 1830.