PETER CURTENIUS DUNLAP

Received his classical education in Union College, and his theological training under Dr. John M. Mason, of New York City, but when about to enter the ministry of the Presbyterian church, the failure of his health compelled him to devote himself to agricultural pursuits, and with Mrs. Dunlap he settled upon a farm in the vicinity of Salem, N.Y., where they reared a family of four children under their own care and instruction.

His wife was Barbara Finch.

Mary MacFarland Dunlap, a daughter was born July 19, 1823. She married M. Simpson Culbertson, of Chambersburg, Pa., who became a missionary in China.

Washington County Obituaries
Vol. 3 p. 899

Collection of newspaper obituaries in the N.Y. State Library.

PETER C. DUNLAP, A.M. Coll. Ham., 1814, a resident of Cambridge, N.Y., was a member of the Philomathean Society.

Philomathean Catalogue 1830.

1814 Peter Cornelius Dunlap
Non-graduate Hamilton College, 1818
Hamilton College Alumni Register 1812-1922.