EXERCISES OF THE 107th COMMENCEMENT.

The Baccalaureate Sermon.

The Commencement exercises were formally opened last Sunday evening, when President Raymond delivered the Baccalaureate sermon in State street Methodist church. A very large audience was present, and thoroughly appreciated the President's address.

Dr. Raymond took his text from John xviii, 37: "Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice."

Ivy Exercises.

The Ivy Exercises were held in College Chapel, on Monday, June 8, 3:00 p.m. Guy Brown Griswold, Grand Marshall.

CLASS SONG. 1903.

Tune, Here’s a Health to King Charles.

Here’s to old nineteen three with heartiest cheers, Ever loyal to thee through the gathering years Each classmate will greet thee like dutiful son, Now as seniors we meet thee our course nearly run, So farewell nineteen three, ever loyal to thee!

Dear old garden, farewell, as we walk ‘neath thy elm And the drafts from thy well with memories o’erwhelm;

And our grand seat of stone—gone, gone, is the time When we raised with glad tone—thy praises in rhyme. So farewell nineteen three, ever loyal to thee;

Old idol farewell—the frost patron saint— We have clothed thee right well in divers-hued paint, But others shall kneel at thy moss-covered base And strangers reveal the great charms of thy face, So farewell nineteen three, ever loyal to thee;

"Prex," Dean, "Profes,"—no more shall we patiently learn From your wisdom’s great store, nor for Pond’s kindness yearn Here’s a health to you all! No more shall you see At the coming of Fall your friends nineteen three. So farewell nineteen three, ever loyal to thee.

ALPHA DELTA PHI ENTERTAIN.

On Friday evening, June 5th, a delightful dance was given by the "Alpha Delts," in their chapter house. The lower floor and staircase were tastefully decorated with evergreens. Dancing commenced at 9:30 and "Home Sweet Home" was not played before 3 a.m. A most enjoyable time was had by all. Zita of Albany furnished the music. Those present were:
Patronesses: Mrs. A. V. V. Raymond, Mrs. John A. DeRemer, Mrs. Edward Everett Hale Jr., and Mrs. Hubbell Robinson. Those also present were: Mr. and Mrs. James A. Van Voast, Mr. and Mrs. Erastus Hill, Mrs. White of Albany, Miss Younglove of Cohoes, Miss Reis of Hudson, Miss Case, Mrs. S. B. Howe, Jr., Mrs. Schlicter and the Misses Sprague, von Dannenberg of New York, Stimson of N. Y., Johnston of Palatine Bridge, Miss Holland of Scranton, Raymond of Lincoln, Neb., Warner of Rochester, Waldron of Detroit, Adams Green of Cohoes, Pearson of Hudson, Taylor, of Auburn, Robinson, Charlotte White, Henrietta White, Hazel Payn, Palmer, Ward of Albany, Strain, Linn, Price, Foster, Veeder, Roberts, Whitlock, Fuller, Hildreth, Raymond Lawrence, Pendleton, Van Voast, Anna Kriegersmann, Marguerite Yates, Eleanor Smith, Milled Smith, Howe, Ostrom, Gates, Horstman, Coates, Bulton.

ALUMNI DAY.

The alumni meeting on Tuesday was called to order by Vice-President Clarence E. Akin, '77, in the absence of President William H. McElroy. The secretary, Dr. William T. Clute, was also absent and Dr. Henry Young was secretary pro-tem.

Prof. Franklin P. Giddings of Columbia College was re-elected trustee.

The following officers of the Alumni association were elected.

President, Dr. Daniel M. Stimson, '63; vice-president, Clarence E. Akin; secretary, Dr. William T. Clute; treasurer, Marvin H. Strong.

Executive committee: J. Newton Fiero, the Rev. E. C. Lawrence, James Healy, Douglas Campbell and Frank Cooper.

One member of athletic board for three years: Robert J. Landon.

The Alumni dinner was served in Memorial Hall. The dinner was furnished by the ladies of the city. Gioesia's orchestra played selections, among them being the "Song of Old Union" and the "Good Old Summer Time," in the first of which all the graduates joined, while nearly all joined in singing the second.

The upper portion of the building was open and workmen were busy on the dome, but they did not disturb the enjoyment of the banqueters below.

When President Raymond finally rapped for order at the end of the dinner he said:

"We are keeping open house today as you probably noticed when you approached the building."

Prof. Steinmetz also spoke.

One of the features of alumni day is the reunion of the class of '63. This was one of the largest classes which ever graduated from Old Union, over 100 men receiving diplomas.

There are twelve representatives of that class on the hill, which is quite a remarkable number, after having been out of college for forty years.

There was a meeting of the class in the Registrar's office and the old boys visited their class tree planted four decades ago. Afterward they called upon the president and faculty of the college and upon Mrs Peissner. They attended the alumni dinner and joined the class of 1903 in class day exercises and in smoking the pipe of peace. They went to Albany on the trolley line and were entertained by Gen. Amasa J. Parker.

The alumni and 'varsity teams played a game of baseball on the campus. A good many substitutes for each team had to be made, and exhibition base running was the consequence.

SIGMA PHI DANCE.

One of the most brilliant social events of the season was the Sigma Phi Dance held in Yates’ Boat House on Monday night. A very large number of the alumni of the different chapters and the friends of the fraternity were present. The hall was very tastefully decorated with evergreens and blue and white fixtures.
Dancing was enjoyed until the early hours after daylight. A delightful time was had by all present.

DELTA UPSILON DANCE.

On Thursday evening, June 4th, the fraternity of Delta Upsilon gave its annual dance in Yates’ Boat House.

With the floor in perfect condition and Gioscia’s orchestra at its best, the affair was one to be enjoyed and remembered by all present.

Besides the active chapter, many alumni and friends on the hill were there.

Among those present were the Misses F.
Moss, Nellie Barton, Elizabeth Gersel, Craig,
Laura Jennings, Eva Ballin, Effie Watson,
Minnie Watson, Edith Watson, B. Linneman,
Marion Fitzpatrick, of Albany; Miss Violet Telger of New York city; Miss Mills and the Misses Rawdon, of Gloversville; Mrs. Allen of Danbury, Conn.; Miss Tate, of Bloomville, and the following from this city. Prof. and Mrs. Marvin, Mr. and Mrs. R. Landon, Miss Fanny Paige and the Misses Amy Craig, Debo­ rach Hoppman, Carrie Watson, Nellie Horst­ meyer, Anna Hubbs, Bessie Thornton, Jessie LeRoy, Stebbins, Mattie Dunham, Jessie

Prof. Edwards, Dr Betts, and the Messrs. H.

R. C. S. Drummond, H. B. Oatley, J. A. Heredia, W. Garriser, G. Parker, L. T. Hunt, G

Heath.

The patronesses were Mrs. Marvin, Mrs.
Landon and Miss Fanny Paige.

IVY DAY.

Although Dr. Jackson’s garden with its old eLM, flowers, shrubbery, pleasant walks, and more pleasant memories may have derived much good from the rain which came and went steadily on Monday last, the students and others know that it missed something which it could not well afford to lose.

The Ivy Exercises of the class of 1903 were held in the chapel “owing,” as President Boles said, “to the inclemency of the weather.”
That the class upheld its reputation of being able to adapt itself to all occasions will be fully vouched for by all present. Mr. Parker’s oration, in spite of his announcement that it was prepared with different associations in mind, was very tactfully spoken and well received.

Mr. Donnan in his ivy oration so eloquently appealed to the imagination of those present that the mere planting of the ivy was not necessary at all, while it was the universal opinion that the ivy poem by Mr. Howe would not have received its due appreciation if it had been give­ in the open air where the hearing of it would have necessarily been indistinct.

Gioscia’s orchestra furnished the music.
Regular rules of the chapel were dispensed with, and the Seniors were allowed to smoke in peace. Contrary to the usual custom the chapel was crowded to the doors.

Many alumni were present as well as friends of the class. The rain did not affect the attendance of pretty girls or the appearance of pretty dresses in the least. One thing is certain. If chapel during the term could have some of the features which it had Monday, and if some of the people present Monday could be present regularly, it would not be so hard to get the fellows to come around.

IVY POEM.

When first we entered Union all was dark,
No stalwart Towne upon our campus stood,
No Boulevard had crossed our college park,
We leave these to the college as we should.

In sylvan shade we wandered to the East
Where tiny lakes lapped idly quarry wall,
And on the mossy floor our sorrows ceased
While list’ning to kind Mother Nature’s call.

Old college woods and Wendell’s pond, no more
Will your delights refresh a freshman’s heart,
The city grows, they tell us, trolleys roar
Along the streets once forest and apart.

Yet one dear spot is still untouched by change
This garden and its oval plot of green,
The bushes with their interlacing screen.
Where tiny lakes lapped idly quarry wall,

What brighter vision can enchant the sight
Than clustered beauty ranged in smiling tiers,
Who nod their friendly wishes and delight
Our hearts with heartfelt and ungrudging cheers.

Now as we bid farewell to each dear friend,
We thank them for their kindness, for all
The little courtesies without an end,
Which will for aye our grateful hearts enthrall.

This tribute then to such good friends we bring,
That judging from the standpoint of four years,
Where’er we go their praises we must sing
The ladies of Old Dorp possess no peers.

We stand upon the threshold of the years
And gaze into the future; hopes and fears
Lie mistily surrounded there. The past
Our early life, our college days will last
With vital impress in the future. Deeds
Here done or left undone, each breeds

A train of consequence to make or mar
What paltry eminence we gain afar.

We must cling to the subject of ivy, "we must pipe
In an ivy leaf,"
And as ivy is clinging by nature, and by nature our stay is brief.
So we claim as a logical sequence, in accord with a very sure rule
We may treat of the ivy by none of the methods of college or school.
So we treat not of Helix Hedera nor of other botanical name
But the old fashioned ivy of England we praise in hexameters lane.
Old ivy, we greet thee right gladly, as plant of the day, thou art queen,
With thy beauty and graceful adornment with garments of shimmering green.

So to-day as we lay thee in state by the side of Memorial Hall
Where the old terraced campus borders the base of the time worn wall,
We symbolize in thy growth, the growth of our life to come,
For we cling to the halls of our college long after we leave our home.

Our college is truly a home, four years have we lived here our life,
And we bring to our hearts the memories dear that vie with the friendliest strife.
We cherish these happy moments, we cherish these pleasure filled days,
As we fondly turn to the years gone by our eyes are dimmed by a haze.

O friends who have gathered to meet us, O friends who have come from afar,
Our hearts beat high at ambition’s cry and we strive to the nearest star.
For youth is a king among men, he ruleth the world to-day.
And ’tis learning’s page, not wisdom’s sage, that worldly men dare not gainsay.

O college, O Alma Mater, may our love for thee aye be true,
We look through the vista so near—so far ’neath heaven’s high archway of blue.
With our leafy ceiling above us, at the roots of the old elm tree,
As we meet to render thee homage and love, these classmates of 1903.

You smile at the youth’s assurance, you doubtingly shake your head.
Up, classmates, rise and gain the prize, for lo, life’s dawn is red.
And over the hills—before us the scenes of our victories lie.
We win no race by begging each pace; with confident mind we try.
Old Union, thou fostering mother, we tender this ivy vine
As a votive gift, and lovingly lift our praises to thee and thine;
Old Union, to thee all the honor, may thy splendor never grow dim,
And 1903, forever to thee will offer this Union Hymn.

* * * * *

Calmly there beside the Mohawk, thronged with hopes and doubts and fears,
She has sat in stately splendor, smiling through a hundred years.
She, the mother of our learning, maker of a stalwart race,
Union, Union, Alma Mater, may she hold her honored place.

In the dim aisles of her forests we have wandered undismayed,
Singing in the summer breezes underneath the elm tree's shade.
We have seen the purple shadows gather 'round her laughing rills,
Watched the crimson sunsets fading on the distant Western hills.

Often on some balmy evening in a muffled undertone
Came the voices of her singers seated on the grand old stone,
And the flames have burned and sparkled 'neath the heaven's starry blue,
To commemorate the glory of some battle won for you.

Clothed in garments gray and ancient, heart unchangeth by time's decay,
May your sons uphold your honor, till at last there comes a day,
When, like Phoenix, reinvested with a better, stronger youth,
You, O mother, noble hearted shall be prosperous in truth.

SAMUEL B. HOWE, JR.

The Senior class on the evening of May 28th held a very enjoyable banquet at The Oven Restaurant on Smith St.
The banquet started at 11 o'clock and wound up in the early hours of the morning. It was thoroughly enjoyed by those present who gathered to celebrate the completion of their undergraduate days at Old Union.
The toasts responded to were "The Faculty"—A. E. Bishop.
"Old Union"—L. T. Hunt.

"Class of 1903"—A. H. Kessler.

"College Widows"—A. S. Peck.
"The Undergraduates"—T. G. Delbridge.
"Ex-Nineteen Threes"—C. Krueger.

The other members of the class were called upon to make a few remarks. Songs and yells were given throughout the evening. Joseph G. Fenster acted as toastmaster.
The committee in charge of the banquet was W. J. Dickenson, chairman; A. H. Kessler and A. G. Pickens. The success of the banquet was due mainly to their efforts.

SOUTHERN CLUB MEETING.
The Southern Club held a meeting Saturday evening, May 30th, at the Sigma Phi Place, on Yates Street. An election of officers for the ensuing college year took place and resulted as follows:
President—A. H. Rutledge, '04.

Secretary and Treasurer—E. G. Simons, '05.
Member of Ways and Means Committee—L. H. Peebles, '06.

After the business part of the meeting, light refreshments were enjoyed. The members adjourned to the hill after tarrying long over the festive board.

TWO NEW CAPTAINS.
On June 5th, Morris T. Raymond 1905, was elected captain of the 'Varsity team for next year.
After the R. P. I. game last Saturday, Charles E. Heath, 1904, was elected captain of the 'Varsity baseball team for next year,

To 1903. "Here's to you, 1903!" You are leaving us for other parts—many of them unknown as yet. But they can scarcely welcome you as cordially as Union in sadness bids you farewell. Whatever you have left the remaining classes and the college shall test your true worth. That your after influence will be for the good of us all, we do not doubt. We are sure that your legacy will stand the test.

Whatever we have gained in College has been to a large extent derived from you and we shall lose much in losing you. Although you pass out from our sight, your lives shall live on in ours and the memory of the days we spent in college with you shall never fade in our remembrance.

As a poet once sang of summer so we may say of your college life.
"The last song is ended;
The last laugh is done;
The last chorus blended;
Summer is gone.
The last word is spoken;
The dream has fled—
The spell is broken—
Summer is dead."

Yet the summer must die before Autumn fulfills its promises. So, drinking a stirrup cup to you, 1903, we say:—"May many years of happy days befall."

Thanks To Mr. Pond. Owing to the personal attention given the work of remodeling Memorial Hall by Mr. Pond, the building was put in readiness for use during Commencement week. The students extend their thanks to the Assistant Treasurer for using every effort to bring the work to at least a partial completion. The Senior Ball committee especially was generously assisted by the efforts of Mr. Pond.

The Base Ball and Track Seasons. The base ball season was successfully closed last Saturday afternoon, when Union defeated R. P. I. in Troy in a ten inning game. A review of the season proves it has been a very successful one. Thirteen games were played and the Garnet got the last of eight of them. Captain Griswold, Manager Donnan, together with each man on the team have worked faithfully and their efforts to make the season a victorious one have been crowned with reward. They deserve praise.

The track season was not unsuccessful, as an investigation of the results of the meets, might go to show. The meet with Rutgers was a handicap one to a certain extent. The New Jersey College was fortunate in having good men where Union was weak. Even tho' we did lose, when a man does his best, his college should be proud of him. The R. P. I. meet, we should have won. As it was, the margin was narrow by which the Trojans won out.

Captain Pearce merits the sincere thanks of the entire college for his consistent efforts to turn out a winning team.
ALL-COLLEGIATE vs UNION.

The All-Collegiate team was made up of men representing different colleges and among them were two of Unions old Varsity men, Paige and Grout, captain of last year's team. The All-collegiates were confident and started out to swamp Union. One side of the bleachers was occupied by General Electric men whose efforts to cheer their team to victory never relaxed. The score was tied in the ninth inning, but Bingham who had pitched a star game striking out eleven men, brought in two winning runs in the tenth inning by a pretty three bagger. Heath fielded his position brilliantly and handled the stick well. Morgan Hawks and Trumbo played well for the General Electric team.

R. P. I. vs UNION.

Saturday, June 6th, Union defeated R. P. I. at Troy for the second time this season. It was last game of the season and the loss of the Track Meet but a week before made it imperative that Union should not again lose. The game looked doubtful for Union when the very first inning Archer, Hagar and Griswold struck out in quick succession. For R. P. I. a few hits coupled with some errors netted 5 runs R. P. I. soon made the score 6-0. Union now braced up and gradually overhauled Rensselaers lead. After the first inning O'Brien pitched a splendid game striking out seventeen men. When the bases were occupied and only one out two more would go down before his delivery. Heath with the bat and his fine running greatly assisted the team. It took ten innings to finish the game and for the second time this year Union pulled out of the game in the tenth inning victorious.

PROFESSOR HOFFMAN’S NEW BOOK.

A new text-book, by Dr. Hoffman, entitled “Psychology and Common Life,” has just been issued by Messrs. G. P. Putnam Sons. No very extended reviews of it have appeared as yet, but those which have come out are of the same tenor of opinion. The author’s purpose is partially expressed in the review from “Public Opinion” which is quoted below. A wider discussion and fuller mention will be made in the “Concordiensis” next fall, when the book has been thoroughly reviewed by competent critics.

Two quotations from leading periodicals are given here.

The “Outlook” says: “Professor Hoffman has here popularized with remarkable clearness a recondite subject, concerning some particulars of which there is an increasing and unsatisfied curiosity as well as no small amount of misconception and delusion. He is familiar with the “Proceedings” of the Society for Psychical Research, and with other literature dealing with the subject, both scientific and charlatan. His book will not only interest the curious, but will be found to illuminate the educational, ethical and hygienic bearings of sound psychology. While critical, it is fair, and holds in general a just balance of appreciation for both sides of a model question.”

From “Public Opinion” : “In view of the universal interest in (and ignorance of) the modern ramifications of psychology, Professor Hoffman’s survey of the latest results of psychical research, with special reference to their bearings upon the bearings of every day life, is particularly timely. To the popular but misled interest in this subject is mainly due the spread of all sorts of quackery; from this book it is possible to get a correct understanding of what psychical research has accomplished, what it has not proved, and to what uses the slight sum of your knowledge may be put. The chapters dealing with the relation of mind to disease are particularly good. Sanity, conservatism, no less than open-mindedness, mark every page of the book.”

VERMONT vs UNION.

Union defeated the University of Vermont on the college diamond Thursday afternoon, May 21st, for the third successive time. The Vermont team, although defeated by several larger college teams, undoubtedly expected a winning scheme on the campus here. Not sure of victory, played a good and steady game. The features of the game were the hard hitting by Mahar and Capt. Griswold, the former opening the game with a slashing home run and following that during the game with two three base hits, while the latter with three men on bases drove out a three base hit to left field netting three runs and giving Union the lead. Again when a run was needed and Mahar won on third Griswold got a clean hit and Mahar came in. Bingham pitched a very steady game and with men on bases the lead. Again when a run was needed and Mahar came in. Bingham pitched a very steady game and with men on bases he was apparently the coolest man on the field. Vermont made three runs in the first inning going over the terrace while three men were on bases. In the fourth inning Woodward's three and Peck's two base hits gave Vermont three runs. Heath wielded the stick to good advantage.

A VALUABLE PRESENT.

The Theta Chapter of Psi Upsilon is in receipt of a very fine gift from Mrs. L. Peissner, in the form of an old parchment containing the signatures of the members of the fraternity in the classes of 1846, 1847, 1848, and 1849, among them being the late President A. Arthur Seward, son of William H. Seward, the famous statesman. The document came into Mrs. Peissner's possession some time ago, and she presented it to the chapter on the seventieth anniversary of the founding of Psi Upsilon.

CAMPUS NOTES.

The track team picture was taken at the Clare Photographic Studio last Friday. After the "spasm" the members adjourned to Walker's pharmacy in the Lorraine Building, where the newly elected captain gave the team a timely "set-up." The proprietor then volunteered, "Drinks on him," (soft of course) which were thoroughly enjoyed.

Owing to the resignation of R. W. Clark, '04, due to the fact that he does not expect to return next year, Malcolm McGregor, '05, has been elected Vice-president of the Y.M.C.A. for the ensuing college year.

THE END OF THE WORLD.

The final summons comes; there is a mighty shock Of the mad whirlwind's wild tempestuous power. Now speaks the fury of the storm which stays Only to leave pale desolation in its wake.

Death comes to life and life is death All in one moment. The world is darkened And the relentless sky, pouring fire, Strikes with untempered hand the dwellers

On this earth. The mighty deep (a boiling caldronnow)

Sends up its dead in countless numbers, Old church yards—once so quiet—are transformed And now become the scenes of wild spirit routs. The graves are opened and the dead rush out and cry In tearful sobs for water, blessed balm, to cool The fire on their burning tongues.

But Death sweeps on like a majestic messenger And gathers to himself all life both old and young. There is no living creature left on earth (Save the calm souls of those who never die), Great black volcanic clouds hang low among the hills; The valleys are the streets of a proud wayward town, After the bombardment—dead piled on dead, And Death is King and Ruler over all.

S. C. '04.

It is generally understood that Dr. Wilkens will not be at Union next year. The fact is regretted by the entire student body.

THE POSSIBILITIES OF ELECTRICITY.

When Morse flashed his first message from Baltimore to Washington over a tiny wire in an incredibly short space of time, the world wondered. When Edison, with infinite mental capacity first evinced his remarkable genius in connection with electricity, the world was startled, and even the prosaic ones were brought face to face with the fact that there was a gigantic force in nature, hitherto practically unknown. Edison lives to-day and with him others just as brilliant who surprise us nearly every hour with new discoveries in the realm of this marvellous power. What is it? We do not know. It cannot be defined. Nor do we begin to know the limit of its force. The great cataract of Niagara has been harnessed and now the surrounding cities are lighted by the electricity generated by the Falls and transmitted by cables over miles of intervening country. The small electric locomotive is more powerful than the huge freight engines with six driving wheels. A tiny electric motor will send a yacht flying through the water.

Aside from the present practical uses of electricity, there are infinite possibilities in such a field. Since a message can be sent across the ocean, either above or beneath its waters in scarcely more than a moment of time, who can say how long it will be before we are in electrical touch with all the planets and even possibly with the nearest stars? The minds of most men are limited, but who can say what a Tesla, a Kelvin, a Steinmetz or an Edison will reveal to us? The range of the subject is so vast that even the most competent electricians specialize in some branch.

So far as its utility is concerned, there is no limit to its possibilities. The theory has recently been advanced that electricity is necessary to the life of plants and the announcer holds that an electric current introduced into a flower pot will cause infinite improvement. Another experimenter brings forward the idea will kill all the germs in it. The thought that that a current brought in contact with water electricity is life itself is very prevalent, this is of course disputed, but the idea that electricity in some form or other is necessary to all organic forms of matter is not denied. It seems from the present outlook, that time is the only thing needful to make electricity—the most potent industrial and commercial factor of our life. In time, electricity will probably be found to be the most efficient remedy and the most deadly force in the medical world. And then, perhaps some day, when the science of it has been completely mastered, man will harness it to life so that while one exists the other shall live.

ALBANY LAW SCHOOL.

The school year has drawn to a close. Lectures were suspended on Thursday the 21st inst, and Friday was devoted to final examinations, or at least the balance of them, several subjects having been concluded by examination during the previous two weeks.

The Class picture has been finally completed, and is on exhibition at the Albany Art Union.

The final jury-trial in the Moot-court series was held on Saturday the 23d inst. at 1.30 p.m. The case was that of Richard Roe against the Albany & Greenbush Bridge Company, and it was an action for damages by reason of an assault. Nimmo & Burnside for Plaintiff, Mills & DeYoung for defendant. The jury failed to agree, but it is understood that the vote was seven for non-suit, one for judgment for plaintiff. The candidates for the Moot-court prize, which will be awarded on Commencement evening, are Messrs. DeYoung, Minkin, McCann, Mills, Burnside, and Nimmo.

Messrs. Frank M. Hickok, LL. B., '02, and John T. Fitzpatrick, ex-'03, have formed at co-partnership under the firm name of Hickok & Fitzpatrick, with offices at 51 State st., Albany, N. Y.

The lecturers in the Hubbard course in Legal Ethics, founded last year by the generosity of Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard, class of ’60, have been announced. They are as follows: Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard, of New York City; Justice David J. Brewer, United States Supreme Court; Associate Judge Irving G. Vann, of the Court of Appeals; and Judge Simeon E. Baldwin of the Supreme Court of Connecticut.

The Fifty-third annual Circular of Information has come from the press, and the genial Secretary, Mr. Davidson, deserves great credit for its fine appearance.

The Union Chapter of Delta Chi held a banquet at the Hotel Ten Eyck on Friday evening, at which a goodly number of the alumni, faculty, graduates, and undergraduates, were present.

The Bar Examinations are scheduled for June 9th., after which time (we hope) all of the seniors will be full-fledged lawyers.

Desirable Economy in Buying Clothing

"Always get the best that you can afford," is an excellent motto to follow in purchasing Clothing. But the "Best" does not necessarily mean the "costliest." When the difference between our Clothing and custom-made apparel exists only in name and in price (a considerable difference), it would seem anything but wise to invest in the latter. Compare our prices with your tailor's charges, counting safely on the quality, style and fit of our garments being entirely equal to those of his product. The difference is worth saving.
