The Men in Garnet Put Up a Desperate Struggle Against the Heavy New Hampshire Eleven.

Union's eleven did itself proud on Dartmouth's campus last Saturday afternoon. It held the strong New Hampshire eleven time and again on downs, surprising the New Englanders by its remarkable grit. Not a member of the eleven before the contest expected even a tie, but every man went into the struggle determined to fight to the finish. When time was called at the end of the second twenty minute half, Union held the ball on her own ten yard line, and neither side had scored. The game was, for Union, a victory, for she fought against a heavier and more experienced eleven.

The contest was gamely fought on both sides from start to finish. The play of the two teams was very even throughout, though Dartmouth did more of the advancing. The lines were evenly matched, for both sides frequently broke through the defence. The tackling was fierce and hard. Every man smashed in with a certain fearless abandon, playing the game to the hilt.

In the first half, Dartmouth fumbled on Union's ten yard line; in the first part of the second, Marquette twice failed at an attempt for goal when Union had the ball on Dartmouth's eight yard line; and at the end of the half Union held the Hanover men for downs within two feet of the fatal goal line.

Union played a clean game in regard to holding the ball, being much superior to Dartmouth in this respect. The elevens have a totally different style of play. Dartmouth plays her backs close to the line and massed. She uses the close interference. Her mass plays outside of the tackles are very effective. In the line, she outweighs Union. Still, her line men had considerable difficulty in handling those opposite them. Griswold is easily superior to the Dartmouth centre, Riley. Captain Lowe, at left guard, is a player of no mean ability. Foster and Brown, the two backs put in at the beginning of the second half, proved good men both on the offensive and defensive. In regard to the Union lineup, it would be hard to pick the best man. Not a word of censure could be brought against a single player. The eleven played together with a vim and snap that was surprising.

A feature of the game that was pleasing to every Union man was the choice of referee. John W. H. Pollard, Dartmouth, '93, and now a student at the Dartmouth Medical College, acted in that capacity. Mr. Pollard's intimate connection with Union's athletics during the past three years endeared him to every member of the institution. The game in detail:

FIRST HALF.

Dartmouth kicks off. Union fails to make five yards and Paige punts. Halliday bucks for a six yard gain. Dartmouth loses the ball. on downs. Mallery makes four yards and Paige punts again. The punt is returned but the ball drops out of bounds. Finnegan and Carver make short gains about the ends but Dartmouth secures the ball on downs. It is fumbled on the next play and Mallery falls on it on Union’s ten yard line. No gain. Paige is forced to punt. Halliday kicks for a ten yard advance and Wainwright dashes through the line for thirty more. Fierce tackling by Union forces Dartmouth back eight yards on the third down and she loses twelve more to hold the ball. Boyle fumbles and it is Union’s ball. Paige punts. Dartmouth fails to make her distance and punts to Paige who advances five yards before he is downed. Guinac makes two yards on a straight kick. Union kicks. Halliday and Wainwright, in four downs, gain a total of ten yards. Dartmouth tries a quarterback kick. Mallery catches and advances ten yards. No gain and Paige kicks again. Dartmouth makes her distance but loses the ball on off side play. Carver makes ten yards around left end and the half ends with Union in possession on her twenty-five yard line. Paige is hurt badly in this half on an at tempt ed block of one of his punts, but gamely refuses to give up.

SECOND HALF.

It is seen that the contest is developing into a kicking game and Marquette is accordingly substituted for Weed at quarter. Dartmouth places four new backs on her eleven in this half. Marquette kicks to Whelan who advances ten yards. On a fumble, Union secures the pig-skin and punts to Dartmouth’s ten yard line. Whelan punts but Guinac blocks the kick and a Union man drops on it. Mallery bucks to Dartmouth’s eight yard line and then Marquette drops back for an attempt at goal. The ball sails a few feet to the left of the goal post. Dartmouth is off side on the play, however, and Union has the ball again on the four yard line. Marquette tries a drop kick again, but fails. Dartmouth kicks out from her twenty-five yard line. She shortly regains possession of the leather, makes small gains through the line, and punts to Union’s twenty yard line. Union loses the ball on off side play but immediately regains it on downs. Dartmouth has it again on downs. Good gains on straight line kicks, alternated with end plays, bring the ball considerably inside Union’s five yard line. The Union line holds firm and Dartmouth loses possession on downs within two feet of the coveted goal line. The ball is punted into safer territory. Dartmouth makes good gains around the tackles but loses the ball on downs on Union’s ten yard line. Guinac buck for a short gain and time is called.

College of Pharmacy.

The opening session of the College of Pharmacy was held on the evening of October first in Alumni Hall, Albany Medical college. Between forty and fifty students registered in the junior class. This summer added to the number in the senior class will make the total registration for this year nearly 80. Dr. Willis G. Tucker, president of the faculty, presided. President A. V. V. Raymond, of Union university, made the opening address. The principal address of the evening was made by Dr. Thomas W. Jenkins, who spoke on “Individuality as Portrayed by the Microscope.” The complete registration list will be printed in the next issue.
New York Papers On The Dartmouth Game.

The following dispatches are from Dartmouth correspondents:

HANOVER, N. H.—Union put up a remarkably strong game against Dartmouth to-day, and by holding for downs at important stages, kept the team from scoring, which showed, in the main, general superiority. Union gained her distance but once or twice in the entire game, while Dartmouth made repeated gains, but she could not keep the ball long enough to get a touchdown, though she herself was partly to blame on account of fumbling. Dartmouth's line is the best in years, but her backs are lamentably weak.—The Sun.

HANOVER, N. H.—Union kept Dartmouth from scoring to-day in the first game ever played between the two colleges and one of the best ever seen here. Dartmouth showed greater strength in the main, but Union's defence served her sufficiently to recover the ball at critical points, several times inside her ten yard line and once on the five yard line. Dartmouth's defence was impregnable, and Union gained her distance only once or twice. It was a desperate defence, assisted by Dartmouth's fumbling, that kept Union from defeat.—The Tribune.

Cornell, 6; Rochester, 0.

In connection with this week's contest, the following clipping from the Cornell Daily Sun of October fourth will be of interest:

"Yesterday's game, in which Cornell defeated Rochester by the score of 6-0, was poorly attended, marked by little enthusiasm and uninteresting.

"It was not, however, a game primarily for spectators. Its purpose was to enable the coaches to test their new material, and this purpose was well served. The work of the team, composed as it was of underclassmen, proved fairly good, and the coaches expressed themselves afterward as satisfied, on the whole, with the results of the game.

"Cornell's score was made early in the first half. Twice after that score did there seem a fair probability of another touchdown being made, but each time the attempt was unsuccessful. Rochester's eleven showed at various points of the game fairly creditable team play, but many fumbles were made, and not once was Cornell's goal seriously threatened."

The 1902 Garnet.

The 1902 "Garnet" board held its initial meeting for organization last Thursday afternoon at the Sigma Phi place. Plans were informally discussed. Meetings are to be held every Thursday afternoon. John D. Guthrie, ΣΦ, is editor-in-chief; Harry C. Hoyt, ΑΔΦ, business manager; and Dickinson E. Griffith, ΦΔΘ, assistant business manager. Raymond R. Crim, XΨ, is literary editor; Harry R. Wilson, ΚΑ, athletic editor and Donald C. Hawkes, ΨΥ, art editor. The assistant editors are Neilson G. Hannay, ΑΥ, Frank W. Neary, ΦΓΔ, Lester W. Bloch, ΒΘΠΙ, Fennwick M. Trefo, ΔΦ. The representatives from the Albany departments of the university have not yet been appointed.

Competition is now open and contributions both literary and artistic are earnestly solicited by the board. Contributions will be accepted or refused strictly on their merits. This should be a source of encouragement to students from all departments of the university to submit matter for publication. The board wish to impress this especially on the freshman class. Drawings and appropriate designs for the cover are in demand and any students who have such are requested to submit them. Contributions will be received by all of the editors.
THE ALUMNI COLUMN.

'99.—Snyder Gage has entered the State Normal College at Albany for a year's course in pedagogy.

'93.—Horace Silliman Van Voast has been nominated by the Republicans for the office of city judge of Schenectady.

'96.—Alexander T. Blessing is a Democratic candidate for assemblyman in this county.

'76.—Edward E. Kriegsmann has been renominated for county treasurer by the Democrats of Schenectady county.

'84.—Daniel Naylon, Jr., is chairman of the Schenectady county Democratic committee.

'46.—Professor Isaac Watson Dunham was the unanimous choice of the Democratic county convention for county clerk.

Judge Isaac W. Lansing, an alumnus of Union College and the Albany Law School, died recently at the City Hospital in Rochester while on a campaign tour of the state in the interests of the Republican State Committee.

Judge Lansing was born in Watervliet about 57 years ago. After completing his education in the above named institutions he was admitted to the bar in Troy. In the early seventies after being defeated for the office of district attorney he moved to Lincoln, Nebraska, where he practiced law until 1896. While there he was very successful, being elected a district judge. He lived within a few doors of Wm. J. Bryan, and watched his career with great interest. On several occasions he had debates with the Democratic candidate for president.

At the beginning of the last presidential campaign he was induced by his friends in this state to return to New York, where he practiced law until the time of his death. He was a prominent speaker and was always in demand by the campaign managers. His home in New York City was at 107 One Hundred and Sixth Street.

'93.—Bernard Sloan has been renominated for Alderman in the first ward of Schenectady on the Democratic ticket.

'93.—Henry Glen has entered the class of 1902 at the New York State Library school at Albany. Mr. Glen received the degree of LL. B. at the Albany Law School in '95. Since that time he has been librarian of the Schenectady Free Library.

'83.—Rev. Daniel M. Countermine of Rochester, who has accepted the call of Olivet Presbyterian Church of Lansingburgh, has assumed his pastoral duties. Mr. Countermine was born in Princeton, Schenectady county. He prepared for college at the Hartwick Preparatory School and graduated from Union in 1883 taking the classical course. He then went to the Princeton Theological Seminary in 1886. His first charge was at Batchellerville, Saratoga County, where he remained three years. His second charge was at Fowlerville, Livingston county, where he was stationed for ten years. From there he went to Rochester, where he was pastor of the Emanuel Presbyterian Church for the last fourteen months.

'77.—Bartlett Whitlock died at the Ellis hospital in this city on the morning of September twenty-six. His death was due to hemorrhage of the lungs. He had suffered considerably from pulmonary troubles during the past few years.

Mr. Whitlock was the son of a Methodist clergyman. He was born in 1853. Entering Union college, he joined the Psi Upsilon fraternity, and graduated with the class of '77. Three years after graduation, he married Miss Nellie Barney, the daughter of the head of the local dry goods firm, H. S. Barney & Co. He held several clerical positions of importance, with the Methodist Book Concern of New York city, with H. S. Barney & Co., and with the General Electric company. He was also associated for a time in the real estate business with John S. Juno of this city. For the past three years, he has been engaged in both reportorial and editorial work on the Evening Star of Schenectady. Mr. Whitlock possessed many talents, both literary and conversational. Several poems from his pen attest his literary abilities.

The cheering in the Rochester game should be vigorous and enthusiastic. Now that cheer leaders have been selected, the undergraduates should vie with one another to support those leaders at every legitimate opportunity. If the eleven knows the student body is supporting it, there need be no fear but that there will be a creditable showing on its part.

Members of the freshman class who wish to compete for positions on the Concordiensis board should hand their names at once to one of the senior editors. It is hoped that a large number of candidates will announce themselves as such immediately. Instructions will be given any freshman in regard to the handling of news by anyone of the editors. Meritorious work will be rewarded by an appointment to the reportorial staff in the spring. A position on that part of the board is at present vacant. The place is open for competition to members of both the under classes. The competitor submitting the most creditable work will be appointed at the opening of the winter term. Promptness, accuracy and literary excellence will all be considered before any selection is made.

TAKING EVERYTHING INTO CONSIDERATION, the showing of the eleven at Hanover last Saturday was as creditable an exhibition of the college game as that given by any team representing the university in years. That it was so may be laid directly to three causes—the earnestness and perseverance of the men, the skilled instruction of William J. Smith, and the loyalty of the few men who lined up each afternoon to be knocked about by the heavy varsity players. The game is a rightful cause of much rejoicing among Union men, both graduate and undergraduate. Still, "There is much danger in over-confidence," as Republican newspapers are wont to say. The younger alumni have done their share of duty toward the college by providing its eleven with a capable coach. The undergraduates have performed a share of their duty by liberally subscribing toward the legitimate expenses of the eleven, but there is yet another share unperformed. Many men, fully capable of doing actual field service for the success of the eleven, daily watch the practice from the side lines. With such an eleven doing honor to Union, such a state of affairs is not only unfortunate but needless. No one will or can deny that a strong football eleven is a splendid advertisement to the institution it represents. It not only draws good athletic material, but also a greater number of students to the institution. Any undergraduate who feels he may in any way strengthen the eleven by appearing on the gridiron as a candidate for the scrub, should apply at the earliest opportunity for football clothes at the room in south college.
LAW SCHOOL OPENING.

Largest Enrollment In The History Of The Institution.

The law department of University opened its doors this year under most auspicious circumstances. The registry list to date includes a greater number of names than it has ever before. The improvement of its courses is yearly drawing more men to Albany. At the opening exercises, Dean J. Newton Fiero formally welcomed both the old and new students to the department. President Raymond, as head of the university, emphasized the fact that the men are all members of the university. He spoke of the common interests of every department and said that every undergraduate should strive to make the university feeling stronger. Judge Amasa J. Parker, the president of the Law School, spoke of the many responsibilities of a member of the legal profession.

The senior class numbers sixty-five. Twenty-six of these men register for the first time. Twenty are college men. The following committee has been appointed to arrange for the twentieth anniversary of the class of '81: F. W. Cameron, Albany, N. Y.; S. P. McClellan, Troy, N. Y.; H. G. Glen, Schenectady, N. Y., and W. M. White, M. D., Amsterdam, N. Y. The officers of the class are C. D. Meneely of New York city, president, and William M. White, M. D., of Amsterdam, N. Y. secretary. All communications and letters of information should be addressed to the latter.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

Mr. Edward C. Jenkins, one of the state secreteries of the college Y. M. C. A. movement, a graduate of Syracuse in 1900, spoke at the weekly service of the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday evening; October 2nd. His address dealt with the need of more systematic Bible study. There are several kinds of criticism, he said, the lower, and the higher. It is not the purpose of the college student to study the Bible according to either of the above. These are for scholars who have put their time into the careful and painstaking examination of the sources and inscriptions which throw light on the Biblical narrative, or on the relative value of textual criticism. For the student, it is enough to glean from the pages of the Bible the many sound truths which are so patent. At the close of his address he met those present and made preparations for Bible classes. Mr. Jenkins, last year, was secretary of the N. Y. I. C. Oratorical League.

Y. M. C. A. Work Among The Professional Students.

A reception was tendered to the students and members of the faculty of the law school and medical college last week Wednesday evening by the Central Young Men's Christian Association of Albany. Several addresses were made, and an excellent entertainment was provided.

Men from all the departments of the university attended a students' rally held at the Albany Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon. Edward C. Jenkins, college secretary addressed the meeting.

Sunday Afternoon Service.

The Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, of Cleveland, Ohio, addressed the vesper service in the chapel last Sunday afternoon in a happy and forceful manner.

Dr. Zelie took for the theme of his discourse the phrase, "An experiencing man." He said that by "An experiencing man" is meant a man who has a tremendous grip on things, who enters into the very heart of things. "Some people deal with matters externally but never seem to enter into the heart of them. It is only occasionally that we meet a person thoroughly taken up with an interest, a truly experiencing man. The external man is easily made. With all the rush of present day influences it seems hardly necessary to most people to enter into anything more than superficially. Men fall from this character of being an experiencing man from thinking that mere existence among things is experience. But this is taking too much for granted. Experience consists not in passing through things but in having them make an impress on us. "How shall a man keep his character? One may notice a gradual failure in his power of devoting himself to anything. The great panacea of life is an open loving heart. Small things which do not seem to a man to be bad often close up his heart and dull his sympathies. When he perceives this closing of his heart, it is time he takes measures to counteract the tendency or be on the downward slope of a happy life. And the best way to overcome the downward tendency is prayer. "The external man is often more interesting than the experiencing man because a great wealth of deep feeling can not be attained in a minute. But the smallest taste of the treasures of an experiencing man's thoughts has a flavor that is eternal."
