The turmoil of the last few years has offered to the American public an innumerable variety of inventions, the most inadequate of which are not only the least, but are the most likely to be disregarded. The public is always wont to turn a deaf ear to the offerings of the men of great genius, and to reward the swindlers and crooks with their money and their favorable opinion.

This is as true of the present as of the past, and it is to be feared that the most distinguished of the inventors will not find in the country for some years a market for their works.

ALBANY LAW SCHOOL.

The campaign for the offices in the gift of the senior class was short and decisive, lasting but three days.

The election was held Wednesday the 8th, inst., and the ticket elected was that nominated, at an enthusiastic caucus held the previous evening. Little opposition to any of the candidates was manifest, and the principal disagreements were upon questions of parliamentary procedure.

The following are the officers of the class:
President, Richard C. S. Drummond, Auburn; Vice President, Frederick R. Guardineer, Albany; Secretary, George Tiernan, Albany; Honorary Vice President, Miss Mabel J. Wood, Herkimer; Treasurer, Clinton R. Witte, Alexandria Bay; Poet, John J. Lawless, New London, Conn.; Orator, James A. Leary, Saratoga; Addressor, Norman N. Britton, Rochester; Prophet, Leland, 1904, Schenectady; Historian, William Rooney, Ballston; Toastmaster, Leopold Ninkin, Albany; Chaplain, David A. Dyer, Albany; Marshal, George L. Aikey, Springfield, Mass.; Chairman of the executive committee, Dwight W. Marvin, Troy. Members of the executive committee: Burdette Whipple, Salamanca; Frederick C. Filley, Troy; James K. Foster, Goshen; Jose Ramos Casellas, Manati, Porto Rico; Frank E. Smallman, Otto; Andrew Hamner, Long Lake.

The Junior class election was, to say the least, attended with more excitement than that held by 1903. According to time-honored custom, the senior class asserted that it was their privilege to attend the junior election in a body, make speeches and motions and occasionally put in a ballot when there might be an opportunity. An attempt was made to have a meeting on Thursday, but the juniors changed their minds after the seniors had invaded their meeting room. Demanding excitement of some kind, the seniors held a junior election of their own, and elevated Leland, 1904, to the presidency. But it was on Friday that the election was actually held. The scene much resembled a Democratic primary, and heads and windows were broken indiscriminately, in spite of protest from the school authorities. No bones were broken, however, and amid cheers from the few seniors who had succeeded in entering the room, and the larger number scattered about the demolished windows, the following ticket was elected in toto by a large majority:

President, Louis B. Shay, Morton; Vice President, John J. McInerney, Rochester; Secretary, J. T. Van Valkenburgh, Waterford; Treasurer, Charles J. Tobin, Albany; Orator, William T. Byrne, Albany; Addressor, Daniel A. Dugan, Fishkill; Prophet, Niram Devoe, Albany; Historian, Addison H. Hinman, Albany; Toastmaster, W. C. Roche, Troy; Marshall, Francis D. Hunter, Troy; Chaplain, J. Craig Roberts, Nunda; Executive committee: Chairman, George H. Smith, Hamilton, and members Lester W. Bloch, Albany; W. J. K. Cahill, Albany; Louis J. Conway, Troy; Nelson L. Drummond, Auburn; Frank C. Brown, Porter; M. Francis O'Reilly, Kingston.

The following are the initiates of the Law School fraternities:

Phi Delta Phi—Edward Easton, Jr., Albany; George J. Hyatt, 2nd., Albany; Leroy A. Lincoln, Albany; Frank L. Stiles, Troy; and John C. McDowell, Cohoes.
Many of the students of both classes attended the Annual Student's reception given on Wednesday evening by the Emanuel Baptist Church. Among them were Messrs. Rogers, Dyer, Lawless, Mills, DeVoe, Wright, Whipple, Smallman, Smith, Gordon, and Groves.

The Board of Trustees has appointed a committee consisting of Dean Fiero and Messrs. Lawyer and Van Saantford to arrange for the new course in legal ethics previously spoken of in the Argus.

Among the graduates of 1902 who have embarked upon the seas of legal activity are Dudley B. Wade, who has an office in the County Bank Building, Albany, and Lester T. Hubbard, who is located in the Waterman Building, Albany, and also has an office in Schenectady.

"MEDIC" NOTES.

During the past week, the following men have enrolled as students in the Albany Medical College: George Walrath, of St. Johnsville, Union, ex. '03, who began his professional studies at the University of Vermont, has entered the sophomore class; Chester Thompson Cobb, of Southampton, Mass., '04; William Sebastian De La Hoyde, '03, of Brooklyn; Francis Joseph Noonas, '05, of Troy.

The number of students who have now matriculated for the coming year is fully equal to the enrollment of any previous year. Though the entering class is small, the others, notably the sophomore class, unusually large. The sophomores now number fifty-one, with one hundred fifty-nine as the total enrollment.

The Union chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa has moved from their former quarters at No. 8 Jay Street, and are now located in a handsome building at No. 9 High Street.

Nu Sigma Nu still retains her house of last year at No. 31 Jay Street.

The officers of the Junior Class for the ensuing year are: President, Joseph Day Olin, B. A.; Vice President, Richard H. Van Denburg; Secretary, William E. Garlick; Treasurer, Joseph N. B. Garlick; Historian, Burt Luverne Shaw, Ph. G.; Marshall, Robert O’Brien.

The sophomores have elected the following officers: President, William M. Dwyer; Vice President, Chester A. A. Hemstreet; Secretaries, James E. Maloney; Treasurer, Homer A. Bushnell; Historian, Harry Rulison; Marshall, William Garfield Rommel.

THE PHARMACY.

The twenty-second year of the Albany College of Pharmacy was begun with suitable exercises on Monday evening, October Sixth, in Alumni Hall of the Medical College Building. President Raymond, of the University, Dean Willis, G. Tucker, Prof. A. B. Huested, Dr. G. V. D. Dillenbeck, Dr. J. W. Jenkins, and Prof. Theodore J. Bradley of the faculty, were seated in the front part of the room, and the students with their friends filled the seats.

Dr. Tucker welcomed the students in a few well chosen words. He was followed by Dr. Huested, who delivered the opening address. Chancellor Raymond then made a few timely remarks, after which Secretary Bradley announced the two opening lectures for the Juniors on Tuesday night at 8 p. m., and for the Seniors Wednesday night at the same hour.

The matriculation will not be complete until the end of the week, and it is expected that by that time about seventy will be enrolled in the two classes.

AMHERST—UNION FOOTBALL GAME.

Under a cloudy sky which threatened a downpour of rain, Union’s team met the Amherst eleven at Pratt field, on the afternoon of Saturday last. The New England team anticipated a high score in their favor for they had the week previous held Harvard down to 6 points. The enthusiasm of the Amherst students was something good to see—and to hear. Just before the game, under the direction of Harry Lake, president of the Senior class at Amherst, some two hundred students got under and around the bleachers which were situated several hundred feet from the gridiron, and at the word of command the fellows all lifted or pulled, and with a yell brought the large wooden structure alongside of the side lines. Then courteously the mass of fellows waited until all strangers and visiting friends had secured seats to their liking before they seated themselves.

At exactly 3:10 the call “are you ready Union?” was heard and the game was begun. Amherst made a bad kick off but Wright had difficulty in locating the pigskin and made only 5 yards, and Union was held for downs on the 35 yard line. Amherst took the ball and, Birum and Quill made short but steady gains through the line to Union’s 5 yard line, where they were held for 2 downs, while our team stood like a stone wall. Then Birum received the ball and went around the end for a touch-down, but no goal.

At the second kick off Union put more snap into her plays and Amherst was compelled to punt. Union assumed the offensive and by clever work by Griswold, Olmsted and Gulnac carried the ball to Amherst’s 20 yard line, where they were held for downs. Amherst had reached the 33 yard line when time was called. End of first half 5—0. Time, 20 minutes.

The second half was interesting merely for exceptionally rapid concerted plays by the Amherst team. Our team was constantly on the defensive. At a critical period Amherst, after rushing the ball to the 5 yard line, fumbled the ball and Union was given the ball. If we had kicked, a breathing spell at least would have been given, but as it happened we were held for downs on the spot and on the second play thereafter the ball went over the line. No goal. Amherst then made some changes in their team and with these fresh men to infuse new vigor they swept steadily back again with minor holdbacks until another touch-down was secured and Daniels kicked the goal. Time was called FOOTBALL.

The work of the team thus far on the Union gridiron has been a source of much gratification to all interested in its welfare. In addition to the services of Coach Whitney and Capt. Gulnac, too much cannot be said of the interest shown by Namack, Cornell; "Biddy" Paige, Union; Easton, Yale; and Jones, Union; in rounding the team into winning shape. In spite of many disadvantages, the result of expert coaching is becoming quite apparent. The fellows are coming out and showing up well. The Medical Department and Freshman class especially are furnishing good material.

The following may be seen daily on the gridiron.

TENNIS ASSOCIATION.

The tennis association met in Silliman hall, Monday, October 6, and elected the following officers: Robert F. Barrett, president; H. A. Pearce, secretary-treasurer; Morris T. Raymond, chairman of court committee; B. W. Roy, chairman of tournament committee.

A revival of interest in tennis has taken place. More enthusiasm has been shown the past week than in several years. Already 35 entries for the tournament have been received by the chairman. In view of the large number of entries the rule in regard to the non-appearance of participants at the time scheduled will be rigidly enforced.

This tournament which is held annually is anticipated with a great deal of pleasure by the students, and the large number of applicants shows that the strife this year will be keener than ever before.

The courts will be weeded, rolled and marked out by the beginning of the week when practice will begin in earnest. The tournament will take place during the latter part of the week.

The association is to be congratulated upon the vim with which it has undertaken the work and upon the manifest interest in this sport it has aroused among the fellows.

DR. TOWNE ON ATHLETICS.

At the first meeting of the Sophomore class in Physiology of Exercise, Dr. Towne spoke a few words on college spirit as manifested in Athletics. He was much pleased by the way the fellows came out to help the football team along after their defeat by Fordham and hoped the spirit might continue. A man does not come to college to make star recitations only. He must broaden his scope. To get the most out of college the student must get the most out of himself as well as in himself. Enter as many branches of college life as you can and this includes some form of athletics. The track offers a broader field for one to display his skill than does football. Every man who does not play football can do something on the track. As a duty to the athletic interests of the college he should try and try hard at least. Why can not the same spirit shown every afternoon on the football field cover a wider space? We are to have a Fall meet. Let this spirit get into track work and make the meet a success. The actions of the track management in regard to next spring will depend largely on the result of the Fall meet and that result will depend largely on the way the fellows turn out every day before the meet.

Captain Pearce is working hard. Just get a little class spirit into you at least and help him along. An inter-class meet is lots of fun. Work for your class and you will be working for your college track team.

PHILOMATHEAN SOCIETY.

The First meeting of the Philomathean society was held in Silliman Hall, October 8. The following question was debated:

Resolved, "That the protective tariff should be removed from all trust-made articles."

Affirmative—J. Fensler.
M. McGuirk.
H. Kluge.

Negative—L. Hunt.
L. Hays.
E. Ellenwood.

Much interest was shown by the other members present, and many took part in the discussion. The debate was decided unanimously in favor of the negative.

ALUMNI NOTES.

The marriage of Miss Jessamine Kimball, daughter of Mr and Mrs Charles P. Kimball of 172 Second avenue North End, Troy, to Edward Elliott Draper, son of Congressman and Mrs William H. Draper, also of the North End, was solemnized Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist church of Troy. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. Harmon Potter of Hartford, Conn., a graduate of Union college in the class of 1895, assisted by the Rev. George Fairlee of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Troy.

The groom is a graduate of Union College in the class of '97 and was a member of the Chi Psi fraternity. The ushers were the Messrs. Ralph Bradford, '98, L. T. Bradford, '99, and Henry Tremper.

The official number of students registered at Cornell this year is 2415.
I think at all in the line of Track Athletics should be on deck, and all the fellows should not scatter but keep bunched together, in order that the cheering may be compact and effective.

College We know of no other college in which the faculty takes cognizance of the needs of the student body so as to allow one hour per week to be deducted from the time set for recitation and to be given to the students to use in the transaction of the business incidental to campus life. For this reason, as well as because of the importance of the meeting, it is right that every fellow in college make it a matter of duty to be present each Monday morning. Do not bolt so that you may get up some work, nor should you be seen studying during the progress of this meeting. Although freshmen are expected to be as unobtrusive as possible and are not allowed active participation, it is for their best interests to be present at every meeting.

TO THE MEMORY OF DR. WHITEHORNE.

Another soul has gone to join that throng Whose earthly aim was e'er to live aright, To do their solemn duty in God's sight, To love the truth, to pray, to hate the wrong. Though hushed the well-known voice and closed the eye Of him whose thought was e'er for Union's weal, We love his memory, his presence feel: The souls of truly great men never die. Let every man, though sad he be to lose A soul so richly fraught with kindly love, Bethink him of the will that rules above And yield, for it is God's not our's to choose, Grim death can only rob us of the clay; His memory he cannot take away.

W. B., '04.

UTILITY.

There must be some who labour hard This old world to exhaust, To furnish occupation for The people who find fault.

The fairest flowers that have ever blown Are destined all to crumble and decay The fairest thoughts that we have ever known Must fade with the twilight of the passing day.

S. C., '04.
PRESIDENT NOTT.

We reproduce from an article in an "Auburn Advertiser" of 1851 this tribute to the man who gave the greatest impulse to the growth of Union.

The article was from the pen of the Rev. S. Mills Day, a graduate of '50, founder and editor of the College "Scroll," a Kappa Alpha, Valedictorian for his class, Phi Beta Kappa, and for forty years Congregational pastor at Honeoye, N. Y., where he now resides:

The first opportunity I ever had of seeing President Nott occurred several years since, when I presented myself before him as a prospective member of Union College. As I took the seat he indicated he leaned forward a little and fixed his clear, undimmed eye penetratingly upon me for an instant; then resuming his former position, as if fully satisfied with the perusal of character he had apparently effected, he briefly and coldly inquired my business.

He was dressed with Quaker-like simplicity and was at that time suffering under a severe chronic complaint; yet there was in his whole appearance an impressive claim to veneration, a stern majesty, a commanding greatness that I had never seen personified till then.

I stated my errand as briefly as possible and gladly took my departure from the overawing "presence."

During my Senior year, however, favoring circumstances contributed to furnish frequent opportunities for intercourse with the President, which I most willingly improved. By this means I gained many interesting and instructive facts concerning the character and life of one whom I regard as eminently great in the highest sense of the word.

As a presiding officer of a literary institution his qualifications are without exception. His knowledge of human nature is really wonderful. He has such influence over the students that, however otherwise diverse, yet will they all agree in yielding him perfect obedience though he put forth not a single command. It is fabled that Orpheus controlled the motions of the rocks and trees by the music of his lyre; but Dr. Nott, still more successful, controls the unruly spirits of Sophomores and Freshmen by the magic of voice.

I remember that one morning the Chapel bell, very unlike the majority of more animate "belles," was found to be minus a tongue. At evening prayers the President alluded to the matter calmly, mildly and even pleasantly, finally suggesting that the abstractor of the missing article would save the janitor some little trouble in procuring another if he would return the original clapper. My room was in the same section as the President's study: early the next morning I heard the chink of some heavy metallic article on the floor in the hall and then followed the sound of retreating footsteps. Passing out of my room soon after, the first object that caught my eye was the missing clapper, deposited at the study door. That same morning the Chapel bell resumed its customary vocation.

The following extract from Dr. Nott's address at the Semi-Centennial Celebration of Union College in 1845 is a fair illustration of his style and manner of oratory:

"Anxious for the welfare of those who shall live after us, to you, beloved pupils who remain behind we commit these objects; and we charge you by the love of man, by the hope of Heaven, to see that the poor have benefactors, the oppressed advocates, the Saviour of sinners disciples, and the God of Heaven worshippers, so long as you shall remain upon the earth. More than this: not content with obeying God and benefitting man yourselves, endeavor to impart to other minds the same high purpose, to be by them again imparted; that thus the Institution in which you were educated may become the source and centre of an influence which shall continue to extend itself till it reaches the extremities of the world and, descending down along the line of following generations, shall continue..."
to bear upon the destinies of mankind till Christ's second coming. And should I, O triumphant hope! be so blessed as to enter those mansions of grace prepared for the redeemed of all nations, see you that the spirits of the dying, as they ascend up to join me, bring with them tides of your faith and patience and labors of love. Let me hear by every sainted messenger, by every returning angel, of something you have done, are doing or are preparing to do for the glory of God and the good of men. Yes, cause it to be known on earth and told in Heaven that other Brainards have arisen to preach the Gospel, other Hales to expound the laws, other Howards to cheer the prisoner in his dungeon and Granville Sharps to raise their voices in behalf of the down-trodden slave; nor falter in your course, nor feel that your work, as redeemed and educated men, is done, until the reign of Messiah is established, pain and sin vanished from a renovated earth and virtue and happiness rendered universal.

* * * * *

It was my privilege on several occasions to be an invited guest within the precincts of the family circle. Here President Nott, laying aside authority and unbending from his official station—for when he rules, he rules—shone forth as a Christian gentleman, scholar and philanthropist. In his genial conversation, in his instructive teachings, in the devotions of the family altar, he benefited, enlightened and led us all; and I ever left his presence wiser and better then when I came. I first learned to admire—I afterwards learned to venerate and esteem.

VESPER SERVICE.

Dean Ripton gave a very interesting and profitable talk last Sunday afternoon in the college chapel. He began by quoting the parable of the vine: "Every branch that beareth not fruit he casteth away; and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, so that it may bring forth more fruit." From this the speaker drew his text: "There is one thing needful." This is a very familiar saying of Jesus. Is it an exaggeration or a statement of truth? Is there really only one thing we need? He said we need a thousand things every day. The tree needs many things. The dead tree is of no account; it is the living tree that finds something needful. The one thing is life. We need the soul; some fundamental thing. What do I respond to now in outward life which I did not respond to two or four years ago? Which way is my life developing? Is my ideal higher? Now coal is one thing needful at present. There is a great immensity of need. If we need things simply for comfort of life there are many, many things. The question is, what we need it for? The man who studies but once in a great while and then takes off his coat and shirt so he won't go out, locks the door so no one will come in, and puts out the fire so he won't be too comfortable to study, has to put himself under compulsion. He is a man to whom there is not "one thing needful" to himself, the inner man.

A wealthy man has many more things that attract him than has another. If the man inside does not respond to the better choices it counts nothing. He may be useful, but there is something more in life than that; his soul expanding into a higher life, finding good and making good out of everything.

What do we need in our college life? Professors, equipment, etc., are not all. They are of small importance. The college should make men of different character that they may look at things in a different way. The man inside must grow respondent to the best in life. He should get a different ideal.

A Christian is not a man who does or does not, but a man who is. So a college man. He should be a different man from what he would have been had he not come to college. A college man should be a Christian man.

This is a series of articles written by Delta Delta Delta, a women's society at Hiram College, Ohio, by the members of the society. It appeared in the Putnam Review in 1881.

A curious college tradition is here presented, viz., a remarkable series of sermons delivered by Prof. W. E. Grady, Jr., of the class of 1879, at HamilScar their senior year. On Sunday afternoon in the Dunham Chapel, Prof. Grady and others reported on the benefits to their college and on their life, and on rewards to those who did the work. The sermon was delivered in Greek, and on account of the restricted audience and the dullness of the sermon, I feel that it is not meet to publish it.

At a similar time and by a similar class, the day before the regular day of election for the Class of 1882, Prof. E. E. Smith, of the class of 1877, was elected.

On Tuesday, October 11, Prof. Grady and Prof. E. E. Smith were at the college. Prof. Grady was the last to notice Prof. Smith, who had been "out of town" since October 6th. Prof. Smith was out of town for the purpose of illness, and could not have been expected to return. Although Prof. Smith's health was not very good, he put up a strong contest, and the college surprised its remainder by the fact that Prof. Smith was elected. They had not been able to see Prof. Smith for several weeks.
CAMPUS HAPPENINGS.

The sixty-eighth annual convention of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity was held in Marietta, O., October 9th and 10th. The Union chapter was represented by H. Pearce and J. F. Putnam.

A meeting of the New York State Intercollegiate Union was held at Bagg's hotel Saturday afternoon, October 4, the representatives present being as follows: Rochester University, W. F. Love; Colgate, Prof. E. C. Huntington, Prof. J. P. Taylor, W. E. Dimorier; Hobart, Dr. J. A. Leighton; Hamilton, Prof. W. H. Squires, George E. Dunham, Elihu Root, Jr. The treasurer's report for the preceding year was submitted and other routine business done, including the award of the pennants for the last year in football to Union and in baseball and the track meet to Colgate.

At a meeting of the Senior Class held Monday October 6th, the following officials were elected to serve the class:

Class football Captain—Parker.
" " Mgr. —Barrett.
" " track Captain—Hunt.
" " " Mgr. —Kessler.

On Tuesday morning, October 7th, those who were about the Campus before seven o'clock noticed a large garnet flag with the numerals '06 in large white letters floating from the mast on the dome of the Round Building. Although it is a well-known fact that it is extremely dangerous for anyone to attempt to put up a flag there, yet some daring freshman accomplished this feat. But the flag had not remained there long before the sophomores spied it and before the freshmen were awake they had torn it down and carried it away as a coveted prize.

The captains of the various class football teams are beginning to get their men together. The sophomores and freshmen have already had some light practice in preparation for the series of class games which will soon be held.

Each class is boasting of their chance of winning the inter-class championship and a series of hard fought games is sure to result.

Messrs Bishop, Howe, Palmer, Andrews, Vedder, Brooks and Waldron were the side lines at Amherst, Saturday.

The appearance of Silliman Hall is greatly improved by the repairs made recently.

A fast game of football was played on the Campus Saturday afternoon between Troy High school and U. C. I. Score, 0—0.

The patron saint of the lower classes has undergone startling transformations in color lately; Green, Friday night; red, Saturday night. It's your move Sophs.

President Nutt, of the Sophomore class, has appointed Roland B. Smith chairman of the Soiree Committee.

The telephone which has been placed in Silliman Hall is of great convenience to all.

JUNIOR HOP COMMITTEE.

The first meeting of the Junior Hop Committee was held at the Psi U House, Wednesday, Oct. 8. Owing to the small attendance very little business was performed. It was decided, however, to hold the first Hop on Nov. 7th, in Yates Boat House. The committee consists of:

Chairman—G. V. Sherrill.
J. G. Cool.
W. B. Watson.
J. F. Putnam.
C. E. McCombs.
S. D. Palmer.
H. R. Andress.
H. S. Olmsted.
A. W. Lent.
W. C. Treder.
H. R. Wickham.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

A special meeting of the Sophomore class was called October 7, by President Nutt.
R. B. Smith has been appointed Chairman of the Soiree Committee. The following officers were elected:
- Capt. Football—G. Veeber.
- Capt. Track team—M. Raymond.
- Mgr. Track team—J. Stevens.

CHAPEL MEETING, OCT. 13, 1902.

Meeting opens with Pres. Bolles in the chair.

Mr. Pearce announces that every competitor in the tennis tournament has dues of fifty cents before he can enter. Mr. Gould requests the class collectors to get some money for football. Capt. Gulnac compliments his men on the game they played with Amherst. He also speaks on the necessity of having a large scrub-out this week. He also seconds Manager Gould's remarks about subscriptions. The Freshmen collected about $7.50.

Mr. Peck announces musical rehearsals for this week. The Concordiensis board will meet Monday evening, at five o'clock instead of seven.

Mr. Bishop speaks of the enthusiastic cheering that the Amherst students gave their team, and urges the students here to follow their example.

Pres. Bolles announces meeting of Undergraduate Council in Silliman Hall for organization.

DRAMATICS AT UNION.

Of all the activities of college life, surely one of the most pleasing and at the same time most profitable is that of amateur dramatics. The pleasure of this branch of work is apparent, and a little thought will reveal to each and every student the gain both to himself and to his college. A college can be advertised in no better way than by a good dramatic organization. Besides the training one receives directly from such occupation he is enabled to put to the practical test much of his knowledge gained in the class and lecture room. The college without such an organization is the exception. Union has no such organization, therefore Union is the exception. And we believe that there is abundant material in college for a first class dramatic club.

Any person who witnessed the performance of the "Cercle Comique" last spring can testify to this statement. The people of the city praised its productions and they ought to be able to judge. When we say dramatic club, we do not mean a one act comedy run in connection with the musical association, but we mean an organization founded purely for the performance of dramatic productions of a high order. Dartmouth, Amherst, Williams, etc., put on each year plays that would do credit to a professional company. If sufficient interest were taken in this matter, a Dramatic club might be organized, from which we might derive much pleasure and profit for ourselves and in a legitimate and noble way extend the good name of Old Union.

CAMPUS NOTES.

"It would be a good thing for the two colleges to come together again, and if a football game could be arranged for this fall it would add to the strength of our schedule."—Hamilton "Life", in speaking of her relations with Union. How is that, Mgr. Gould? Any open dates on the Campus?

Arrangements to heat the memorial building from the basement of Washburn Hall are well under way. Pipes to convey steam, are being laid in a trench between the two buildings.

All voters in college should register as soon as possible.

The manager of the Track Team desires to announce to would-be athletes that there will be no such event as the "slot pot" this year, as stated in the last issue, because of a lack of candidates. Instead he proposes to substitute an event called the "shot put" for which there are many available men.

At a recent meeting of the Sophomore class, George A. Vedder was elected captain of the foot ball team and M. T. Raymond, captain of track team. Pieces of the freshman flag were distributed to each member as souvenirs.

The following substitutes accompanied the foot ball team to Amherst: Patton, '05; Raymond, '05; Lent, '04; Becker, '05; Blake, '06; Schuyler, Medici, '05. There were several old Union men present at the game, among whom was Walter L. Smith, '00, who is now at Yale.
