

1823 HIRAM P. GOODRICH:

The Reverend Hiram P. Goodrich came in 1838 from a professorship in Biblical Literature in Union Theological Seminary, Prince Edward, Virginia, to the vice<sup>1</sup>presidency of Marion College and a professorship in Latin and Greek. To Goodrich goes the credit for suggesting the name "Westminster" for the college in Fulton.

The Marion College Episode in Northeast Missouri History.

Howard I. McKee,
Missouri Historical Review
April, 1942. p. 310

GOODRICH, HIRAM P, '23

The son of Benjamin D., and Elizabeth (Plummer) Goodrich, was born in 1800, at Richmond, Mass. After receiving a good education, he graduated at Union College, N. Y., and studied Theology at Princeton, N. J., he was licensed by Albany Presbytery in 1825. On leaving Princeton in 1826, he was elected Professor in the Union Theological Seminary, Va., he also laboured as an evangelist through the destitute portions of the Presbytery of West Hanover, working earnestly for the good of souls. On resigning his professorship, he went to Missouri, and entered fully upon his Master's cause, first at Marion, where he was also President of the College, then Jefferson city, St. Louis, and Carondelet, winning souls to Christ, building churches, and working with apostolic zeal; whilst thus employed, his labours were ended; after a severe attack of Ileus he died, May 19, 1859.

From: The Presbyterian Hist. Almanac for 1859-1860
p. 71

X
23
*Goodrich, Hiram Plummer—b. Richmond, Mass., Dec. 6, 1800; U. C., 1823; (3 grad.); ord. evang. Pby. Albany, May 3, '27; prof. Bib. Lit. Un. Sem., Va., '28-38; pres. M. C. M., '38-43; s. s. Jefferson City, Mo., '43-45; s. s. Westminster, ch., St. Louis; s. s. Carondelet, '48- p. '53; tea. St. Louis; d. Carondelet, Mo., May, 17, 1858. D. D. Princeton Theol. Coll. 1844.

Class of 1823.

CLASS OF 1823

HIRAM P. GOODRICE

The son of Benjamin D. and Elizabeth (Plummer) Goodrich, was born in 1800 at Richmond, Mass. He graduated at Union College, studied theology at Princeton, N. J., and was licensed by the Albany Presbytery in 1825. On leaving Princeton, in 1826, he was elected Professor in the Union Theological Seminary, Virginia; he also labored as an evangelist through the destitute portions of the Presbytery of West Hanover, working earnestly for the good of souls. On resigning his professorship he went to Missouri, and entered fully upon his Master's cause, first at Marion where he was also President of the college; then at Jefferson City, St. Louis, and Carondelet; winning souls for Christ, building churches, and working with apostolic zeal. Whilst thus employed he died May 17th, 1858.

FROM Encyclopedia of the Presbyterian Church

Alfred Nevin

Editor

HIRAM P. GOODRICH, '23

The son of Benjamin D., and Elizabeth (plummer) Goodrich, was born in 1800, at Richmond, Mass. After receiving a good education, he graduated at Union College, N. Y., and studied Theology at Princeton, N. J., he was licensed by Albany Presbytery in 1825. On leaving Princeton in 1826, he was elected Professor in the Union Theological Seminary, Va., he also laboured as an evangelist through the destitute portions of the Presbytery of West Hanover, working earnestly for the good of souls. On resigning his professorship, he went to Missouri, and entered fully upon his Master's cause, first at Marion, where he was also President of the College, then Jefferson city, St. Louis, and Carondelet, winning souls to Christ, building churches, and workign with apostolic zeal; whilst thus employed, his labours were ended; after a severe attack of Ileus he died, May 19, 1859.

From: Wilson's Presbyterian Historical Almanac
Vol. 2m p. 71

Rev. HIRAM P. GOODRICH, 1823, of Richmond, Mass., was a member of the Philomathean Society. (Died: 1859)

Philomathean Catalogue 1830