

Henry Walter - b. 1798. d. Paris, France 1848
 m. 1843 Caroline de Grasse de Pau.

Son of Henry Walter Livingston and Mary
 M. Allen.

Brothers and sisters:

Walter

James Allen

Mary

Elizabeth

Cornelia

Ann Greendale.

OVER

These are the dates as I have copied them, but there is an evident mistake. Henry
 Walter must have married in 1823

His children were

Henry W. b. 1824. - Sybille Mathilde 1827. - Francis de Pau 1829.

Walter Lewis, 1830. - Marie Adèle 1832. - de Grasse 1833.

Robert Livingston 1834. - Stephanie Jacqueline 1835.

Lewis Philip 1837. - Charles Fred Alexander 1846.

This son, Henry W. is not a Union alumnus.

Henry W. b. 1824. d. 1888 m. 1849 Angelica
Weguhart - (2) Mary McRae (widow of his brother Robert-).

Son of Henry Walter Livingston + Caroline De Pau.

Children (of Henry W. and Angelica Weguhart)

Mary,
Bayard I do not know the order
Harry of their birth -

Brothers and sisters: -

- Gilvie Mathilde
- Foances De Pau
- Walter Lewis
- Marie Adèle
- De Grasse
- Robert Livingston
- Stephanie Jacqueline
- Lewis Philip
- Charles Fred Alexander.

This is the Henry W Livingston who married
Angelica Weguhart - but the dates do not fit with those you gave. So I think it must be his father Henry Walter that you want-
OVER.

1818 HENRY W. LIVINGSTON.

Died: At Paris (France) on the 19th February last, Henry W. Livingston in the 51st year of his age.

Mr. Livingston left his residence at Livingston, in this county, in November last, and sailed for Europe, in the hope that the climate of Switzerland would benefit his health, which had been seriously impaired. At Paris his disease arrested him on his journey, and terminated his life. Thus has fallen in the meridian of his life, a man who was endeared to a large circle of relatives and friends; and at a time when care and attention to the interests of a numerous family rendered longer life desirable. The character of Mr. Livingston was one which all should emulate. Strict honor and integrity was the rule and practice of his life. In all the relations of life he sustained himself with an unblemished reputation. His liberality and kindness to his numerous tenantry, has often been acknowledged, and will be remembered by them, and his memory cherished with affection and regard. (Hudson Gazette)--Daily Albany Argus, March 22, 1848.

DIED: In Paris, on the 19th of February, (to which place he had gone for the benefit of his health), Henry W. Livingston, of the Manor of Livingston, Columbia Co., N. Y.

In announcing the death of this truly good man, having been favored by an early acquaintance--I may say from his youth--and thereby became an intimate associate--although not a relative. The profound respect I have for his memory will not permit me to omit giving my version of his character. Mr. Livingston has died as he ever lived, a truly honest, upright man in all the transactions of life; "the most noble work of our Maker." Mr. Livingston being blessed with the tender feelings of a most polished gentleman from his birth--possessing the most kind and generous heart, aided by a courtesy of manner rarely to be met with, obtained for him the love, affection and esteem of a numerous and general acquaintance; who will not only sympathize in the affliction thus rendered his dear and near relatives, but will truly lament the loss which they have sustained by his departure from their society. He was the friend of all--most particularly so of those in want, or requiring the aid and assistance of his uniform generosity. His estimable and amiable character will ever be remembered by all who knew him and particularly cherished by the inhabitants of Columbia county--by whom, rich and poor, he was beloved. While I deeply regret and duly appreciate the sorrow of a fond mother, wife and children, sisters and surviving brother, to whom he was deeply attached, and by whom he was most truly esteemed, as an affectionate son, a dutiful husband, a kind and tender parent, and a most affectionate brother--in whose sorrow and grief I beg leave to unite. In the departure of my friend, I still have the pleasing consolation and happiness of believing, in the sincerity of my heart, that that friend who has left us and is now quietly resting in a better and happier world, freed from the troubles and cares of this world, never possessed a vice, bore ill-will to no person, and never had an enemy, from his youth to his death. Truly may it be said, a rare and most singular occurrence in the life and death of mortal man.

A Son of Columbia County.

Daily Albany Argus
March 20, 1848.

CLASS OF 1818

HENRY WALTER LIVINGSTON

Son of Henry Walter and Mary (Allen) Livingston.

Was born at Manor of Livingston, Jan. 21, 1798.

He married in New York City, Feb. 20, 1823, Caroline de Grasse de Pau, daughter of Francis de Pau and granddaughter of Admiral Count de Grasse, commander of the French fleet which stood off the American coast during the Revolution.

Children:

1. Henry Walter, born at "The Hill," Livingston, N. Y., Jan. 25, 1824; d. at Livingston, Feb. 18, 1888; m. Angelica Urguhart of New Orleans.
2. Silvia Mathilde, b. Feb. 12, 1827; d. Dec. 31, 1873; m. N. Y. City, Oct. 28, 1851, Johnston Livingston
3. Francis de Pau, b. May 14, 1828; d. May 3, 1829.
4. Walter Louis, b. Dec. 21, 1830; m. June, 1857; d. Feb. 23, 1889.
5. Maria Adele, b. Jan. 20, 1832; d. Mar. 7, 1853; m. 1852/
6. De Grasse, b. Sept., 1833; d. Oct. 15, 1895.
7. Robert L., b. Nov. 12, 1834; m. Nov. 25, 1865; d. Feb. 25, 1877
8. Stephanie Carolina, b. Nov. 23, 1835; m. Apr. 30, 1850; d. Feb. 10, 1856
9. Louis M. P., mb. July 28, 1837; d. in Stuttgart, Germany, April 8, 1881.
10. Carl Francis, b. May 6, 1846; d. Jan. 9, 1847.

Genealogy & Family History of Southern New York.

Vol. 3 p. 1315

Cuyler Reynolds

1914.

Henry Walter Livingston 1818
a73

Henry Walter Livingston<sup>1818</sup> F.B.