The next drug store was established in the spring of 1833 by Dr. Edmund Stoughton Kimberly, in company with Peter Pruyne. Dr. Kimberly also took an active part in the political affairs of the community, as the records show that he was present and served as clerk of the town meeting held in August, 1833, to decide whether the place should become legally incorporated. The question having been decided in the affirmative, he was elected a member of the firstboard of trustees, and for many years continued to exert more or less influence in municipal affairs. He filled several public official positions with honor to himself and the community. Although Dr. Kimberly maintained a strictly honorable position as a physician for thirty years, he did not attain eminence as a practitioner, yet commanded the respect of all. As he approached old age, his health became impaired and he removed to a country residence in Lake county, Ill., where he died October 25, 1874, aged 72 years. pp. 226-7.
