(or, if deceased, to the friend or relative who knew him best :)

SIR,—

It is the aim of the subscriber, in collecting the information asked for by the following questions, to obtain materials for a concise Biographical Catalogue of the Trustees, Presidents, Professors and Tutors of Union College;—of those who have received Honorary Degrees from it, and of all who have ever entered that Institution, whether Graduates or not.

That such a work would be interesting and useful to the Alumni, will not be denied; but whether it be practicable, will depend chiefly upon the ready aid which they shall impart. This circular will be sent to every Graduate whose residence is known, (or, if deceased, to some near connection,) and it is confidently expected that no one will neglect to return it in due time, with as full information as circumstances will allow:—some of the questions, indeed, it may not be possible to answer with certainty; others not at all: still, it is hoped that no important facts will be withheld because of their fewness.

Death has removed the twenty-four original Trustees, the first three Presidents, the early Professors and Tutors, and from eight hundred to one thousand of the Alumni of the College. Doubtless their friends and descendants will cheerfully contribute such information as may be necessary to illustrate the lives and services of the departed.

The subscriber desires every aid that may help to throw light upon the personal history of those concerned:—Obituary Notices; Biographical Sketches, Epitaphs, Funeral Sermons, Newspaper Notices of election to important offices or stations, Business Cards and Advertisements; also, copies of their Literary Works, Addresses, Sermons, Essays, Newspapers, engraved Portraits, &c.; all of which will be deposited and preserved in an Alcove of the College Library, to be set apart for "Graduates' Works."

He also requests that all future changes affecting the answers which shall be given, be made known to him from time to time:—especially the deaths of Graduates, and that the usual obituary notices or funeral sermons published on such occasions, be sent with the announcements, as it is his purpose to publish these deaths hereafter once a year.

XVII. General information respecting character, services, success, interesting passages and events in his life, &c.

Dr. White's time has been wholly occupied in studying and practising the different branches of his Profession. He has repeatedly performed all the most important operations in surgery and midwifery. The most important and difficult operation, however, and the one which has been most extolled by the Medical Profession, was the successful application of the ligature to the "Internal Iliac" artery. It was in fact the first operation of the kind in the "United States," and about ^{the} fourth in any country. This rare and difficult operation was performed in 1827 at Poughkeepsie near Hudson and was published in the "American Journal of Medical Sciences," at Philadelphia in 1828 and is mentioned in "Cooper's Surgical Dictionary".

XVIII. Some account of his pedigree and family; its original seat in this or the old country, &c., &c.

Dr. W. is a direct lineal descendant from John White who was among the party of Puritans that first settled the town of Cambridge near Boston in 1632. They subsequently formed the party who were among the first settlers of the City of Hartford Con. The descendants of John White remained mostly in Connecticut until the tide of emigration began to move in the latter part of last century in a westerly direction. The father of Dr. W. moved from Hudson Con. to Hudson N.Y. about 1796 and after spending a life of usefulness in his Profession died in 1845. His standing as a Physician and Surgeon was universal in the State.

XIX. List of such graduates as may not be widely known; their residences, professions, dates of deaths, &c.; the name and residence, also, of some near friend of the deceased, that further information may be sought for; thus:—

[John Orton Smith, Banker, Chicopee, Mass. died 1848. His brother, Joseph H. Smith, resides in Springfield, Mass.]

Dr. G. P. White the son of Dr. G. W. and the subject of this biographical account, was married in 1825 to Caroline M. Jenkins the daughter of ^{the father} Robert Jenkins of Hudson. She is also the grand-daughter of Seth Jenkins one of the first settlers of the city of Hudson. ^{Dr. W.} ^{has} seven children four daughters and three sons. The eldest daughter is married to Edward M. Linemore son of Isaac Linemore of Cambridge Mass.

Physicians Have Written Brilliant Chapters of Medical Society History

ON TUESDAY, June 6, 1806 just 150 years ago a group of physicians and surgeons met at Hudson and formed the Columbia County Medical Society.

Elected president of the group was Dr. William Wilson of Clermont, who was to become president of the State Medical Society in 1812 during the fifth year of its existence.

There were many brilliant men in the field of medicine who practiced in those early years. One was Dr. Samuel Pomroy White of Hudson, a graduate of Union College in the class of 1822. While still a young man he performed one operation alone which made him famous. The operation was the ligature of the internal iliac artery, and marked the first time it had been performed in this country and but three before in any other nation.

In 1865 Dr. White read a paper before the Columbia County Medical Society on "The Salubrity of the Climate of Hudson" in which his warm and abiding interest in the city of his birth was evidenced.

Another brilliant physician was Dr. William M. Pitcher, a native of Claverack. He graduated with honor from the medical college at Woodstock, Vt. and later represented the Medical Society as a delegate to the State Society.

Bold and fearless in his use of remedies, he achieved triumphs that extended his practice over a larger field than most physicians enjoy. In 1872, while making a post mortem examination, he received a wound that was the direct cause of his death. He suffered great agonies for several days and died on June 1, 1872. The citizens of Hudson manifested their regard for his virtues by erecting a beautiful monument to his memory.

Down through 150 years hundreds of other physicians have tended to the needs of the sick and needy while, at the same time establishing a brilliant record for their County Medical Society.

The following is a brief chronological record of the attainments of the Medical Society since its organization:

April, 1806—N. Y. S. Legislature enacted laws which allowed Medical Society to incorporate.

June, 1806—Organization meeting of the Columbia County Medical Society in Hudson.

Oct., 1806—Established Board of Censors.

EARLY MEMBER of the Columbia County Medical Society was Dr. Lorenzo Gile, a native of Stephentown. Born in 1814, he graduated in 1839 from the Berkshire Medical College of Pittsfield, and served as a practicing physician in Canaan for 40 years.

Feb., 1807—First annual meeting of the Medical Society of the State of N. Y., nine counties represented, but Columbia was not included.

Oct., 1836—The County Medical Society membership was appointed to secure and complete and distribute general virus vaccine—small pox. Previously it had been against the law for anyone to handle it.

Oct., 1861—Organization meeting of the Columbia County Homeopathic Society. These physicians believed in and used tiny drug doses.

1889—Incorporation of Hudson City Hospital.

March, 1904—Columbia County Medical Society became part of the Medical Society of New York State.

Nov., 1920—Columbia County TB Sanatorium opened for patients. One of earliest institutions of its type in the state.

1925—One of first state rehabilitation centers, Potts Memorial, was established at Livingston.

March, 1933—Columbia County Health Department organized with full time Commissioner.

May, 1935—1st Workmen's Compensation Commission organization.

Oct., 1935—1st medical membership list was submitted to the Board of Supervisors for the selection of a member of the County A.B.C. Board.

Oct., 1938—County Society appointed a committee to cooperate in group work for cancer. May, 1942—County Society endorsed Voluntary Medical Expense Insurance — Blue Cross, Blue Shield.

Aug., 1942—"Home Guard" pledged their complete cooperation and service, to give full medical coverage during war. One-third of medical men who were in active work volunteered and served in armed forces.

Dec., 1942—1st County Unit of National Physicians Committee appointed under Federal Legislation.

Oct., 1943—Unanimous vote for war bonds.

April, 1947—Cancer detecting center and personnel at Hudson City Hospital.

Oct., 1950—Joined County organization for Civil Defense.

Oct., 1950—Established Blood Bank at hospital.

1952—Dr. John L. Edwards named Vice President of State Medical Society.

June, 1956—Opening of complete and modern Physical Therapy department at Columbia Memorial Hospital.

SAMUEL POMEROY WHITE

The son of Dr. Samuel White, this surgeon was born November 8, 1801, in the city of Hudson, New York, and went as a boy to Middlebury College, Vermont, and Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., where he received an honorary diploma when recalled by his father to work under him. Later, two years in the medical departments of the University of New York and the University of Pennsylvania well fitted him to be his father's partner. In 1823 the Medical Society of the County of Columbia, New York, granted him a license to practice.

In 1827 he had his attention called to a case of gluteal aneurysm for which he ligated the internal iliac artery, this being the second time on record the operation had been performed for this disease.

Successful in ligating the internal iliac artery, which he termed his "darling operation," it seemed a fit reward that he should be invited to the chair of surgery and obstetrics in the Berkshire Medical Institution, Pittsfield, Massachusetts, and in 1830 that of theoretical and operative surgery.

But he coveted a wider field and three years later he went to New York and there was equally successful.

He was singularly reluctant to appear before the public even in writing and never yielded to those who wanted some of his valuable lectures printed, yet at all times he gladly helped anyone by conversation.

About ten days before his death he was seized with a violent chill, the prelude to typhoid fever and he died June 6, 1867, when sixty-five years old. He married Caroline Jenkins of Hudson, who with three sons and four daughters, survived him.

SAMUEL POMEROY WHITE

The following notice is taken from the Rural Repository of Hudson, N. Y., under date of August 30, 1828:

Berkshire Medical Institution.--No circular nor catalogue of this school, having as yet come under our observation, we make the following extract from the Dutchess Intelligencer:--

"We are informed that the professorship of Surgery and Obstetrics, in the Berkshire Medical Institution, has been offered and accepted by Dr. Samuel White, M. D. in connection with his son, Dr. S. P. White, M. D., both of the city of Hudson.-- These gentlemen cannot fail to add to the celebrity as well as the actual value of the Institution."

This is as it should be. Our Medical Institutions, like our agricultural, have too long and too generally been under the guidance of mere theorists. A laboured compilation or a finished essay have frequently placed in these most responsible Professorships, men, who have scarcely seen a patient and rarely if ever touched an instrument. From such men, students can hardly expect any benefit. But Doctor Samuel White has been for thirty years in most constant and successful practice-- during a part of which time, both himself and son, Doct. S. P. White, have been advantageously known to the public in a series of the most critical and dangerous Surgical operations--some of which, we believe, have never been performed by any others in this country.--We congratulate the Institution on this acquisition to its former celebrity and hope it will receive that patronage which it so highly merits.
