

• PENULTIMATE •

Second Annual Conference of the Adirondack Research Consortium

The program of presentations is now set and final details for the Second Annual Conference of the Adirondack Research Consortium are finalized. This conference is shaping up as an attractive and exciting event, with its wide variety of speakers, papers, and interdisciplinary studies. Our keynote speaker will be Dr. William R. Burch, Jr., Hixon Professor of Natural Resource Management at the Yale University School of Forestry and Environmental Studies. Bill will build his address around the theme of "the relevance of the Adirondack Park 'experiment' to a wider world." This presentation to the banquet promises to be a highlight for the conference and should be of great interest to academics, business people, government and private agency personnel, and the public at large.

The meeting will take place at SUNY—Plattsburgh on May 22nd and 23rd and will offer papers, poster sessions, and more informal discussions on a wide variety of issues related to the Adirondack region. For those who are interested in attending and who still haven't received the necessary information concerning dates, presentations, lodging, registration, directions and other pertinent matters, please contact the conference organizers. They are

Dr. Malcolm Fairweather and Dr. Thomas Rumney
Center for Earth and Environmental Science
State University of New York—Plattsburgh
Plattsburgh, New York 12901

Telephone: 518-564-2027      FAX: 518-564-3152

EMAIL:      FAIRWEM@SPLAVA.CC.PLATTSBURGH.EDU or RUMNEYTA@SPLAVA.CC.PLATTSBURGH.EDU